

Serving as a Georgia FFA State Officer would be an honor to me. This organization has been the most important part of my high school experience and has shaped me into who I am today. I aspire to impact the lives of younger members and help them find themselves by encouraging them to step out of their comfort zones, increase their knowledge of the agricultural industry, and be an advocate for all of the opportunities that the National FFA Organization has to offer.

I walked into my first FFA conference and knew I had found "my people." From the corduroy to the line-dancing, I had to have more! I joined FFA 2 years ago and I do not have an agricultural background. However, this has not stopped my love for this organization nor my desire to serve as a State FFA Officer. The power in this blue jacket is limitless, and I want to serve as a State FFA Officer so those who share the same passion and excitement find themselves achieving their goals in the Agricultural Industry!

I decided to join FFA after going to the 2015 National FFA Convention in Louisville, Kentucky. At the convention I had no idea my life would be set on a different path. Here I met the National FFA President at the time, Andy Paul, and was inspired to challenge myself in the FFA. My journey began as I ran for chapter office, and a few years later, area office. Throughout those years, I learned that inspiring others leads to some pretty amazing things, and that's why I decided that I wanted to serve as a State Officer. To inspire.

Being in FFA has allowed me to be a part of something bigger than myself. During my journey I've been blessed to meet many members who continue to show me the beauty of being different. As a state officer I would have the opportunity to hear over 43,000 stories that make this organization unique. I want to serve as a state officer because I not only want to serve members, but I want to help them find what makes them unique. My goal is to encourage members to celebrate our differences and use FFA to bring us together!

A wise man once told me that in order to achieve your goals, you just have to 'make it happen.' At the time, it seemed silly to make everything sound so simple while living in a complicated world. Although later, I realized that things are only as complicated as we make them. Georgia FFA, I want to serve as a state officer this year because I believe that together we will: "make it happen."

Serving as a delegate at the National Convention this year made me realize I have so much more to offer to FFA, and I would love to represent my fellow members in Georgia! As my Chapter's President, I have enjoyed connecting with students in Polk County, encouraging their individual involvement and helping them be successful. I value the personal relationships I have with farmers and policymakers throughout Georgia and know that teamwork helps everyone achieve their goals. I want to share my enthusiasm for agriculture and be a part of the future success of Georgia FFA!!

The National FFA Organization was founded on principles of leadership and brotherhood. Today, our organization has continued instilling those qualities in over half a million students who directly impact the agricultural world, and in turn, over 7 billion people. Agriculture is an essential component of life that binds each and every one of us, and I believe the FFA is the heartbeat of modern agriculture. I BELIEVE in the future of agriculture, just as our founders did, and I dream for the opportunity of being a little bit bigger part of that heartbeat. Georgia FFA, I want to serve you.

State Officers are those that you look up to, the role models of FFA. They encourage, empower, impact, and influence members' mindsets. They advocate for FFA in their daily lives and truly have a passion for our organization. Being a State Officer means teaching, learning, and working with others from all over, and creating a foundational team for the State of Georgia. I want to serve as a role model that encourages, empowers, impacts, and influences; I want to be a State Officer. Most importantly I want to give back to the organization what it has given to me!
